Disorder POV Story Rationale Sheet

Name: ____________________________

Title (if applicable): ____________________________

Write in complete sentences, please.

Why do you like this story? __________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________

What worthy qualities does it have? __________________________________________________

________________________________________________________

What bothers you about this story? _________________________________________________

________________________________________________________

What do you already know that you want to change? __________________________________

________________________________________________________

How did you feel about researching disorder? Did you learn anything new that interested you? Did this assignment interest you? Did you find it challenging to tap into the mind frame of someone else? I’m just interested in your thoughts on this assignment. ______________________________________

________________________________________________________

If you had to rate your story, how many stars would you give it? ★ ★ ★ ★ ★